

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

At the time of delivery of an article for which payment is to be made by using the locker, conventionally, the resident later utilizes a bank or a post office to transfer money to the trader. Therefore, the resident has to go to the bank or post office, and hence there is a problem in that the procedure is troublesome. An auto settlement system using a locker comprising: a card reader 12c for reading a trader identifier decided beforehand by a contract between a proprietary company of the locker and a trader; operation keys 12b for inputting a recipient identifier or the like; a sensor 12d for detecting whether there is an article or not in a box 11 of the locker; an electric lock 12h for locking a door of the box when the sensor detects said article; and a central control unit 12a for storing the recipient identifier and transmitting such data to the control center.